Abstract

The Package manifest document provides lists of packages available in Red Hat Enterprise Linux 9.

MAKING OPEN SOURCE MORE INCLUSIVE

Red Hat is committed to replacing problematic language in our code, documentation, and web properties. We are beginning with these four terms: master, slave, blacklist, and whitelist. Because of the enormity of this endeavor, these changes will be implemented gradually over several upcoming releases. For more details, see our CTO Chris Wright's message .

PREFACE

The Package manifest document provides a package listing for Red Hat Enterprise Linux 9.0.

Capabilities and limits of RHEL 9 as compared to other versions of the system are available in the Knowledgebase article Red Hat Enterprise Linux technology capabilities and limits .

Information regarding the RHEL life cycle is provided in the Red Hat Enterprise Linux Life Cycle document.

Detailed changes in each minor release of RHEL are documented in the Release notes.

Changes to packages between RHEL 8 and RHEL 9, as well as changes between minor releases of RHEL 9, are listed in Considerations in adopting RHEL 9 .

Application compatibility levels are explained in the Red Hat Enterprise Linux 9: Application Compatibility Guide document.

CHAPTER 1. RED HAT ENTERPRISE LINUX 9 CONTENT

1.1. REPOSITORIES

Content in Red Hat Enterprise Linux 9 is made available through the following content repositories:

- BaseOS

- AppStream

- CodeReady Linux Builder

- Supplementary

In addition, specific content is available through the Red Hat Enterprise Linux Add-on repositories:

- High Availability

- Resilient Storage

1.2. TYPES OF CONTENT

There are two primary types of Red Hat Enterprise Linux 9 content.

1.2.1. Traditional content

Traditional content is released as RPMs and is, unless specified otherwise, supported for the life of the release in accordance with the Red Hat Enterprise Linux Life Cycle .

1.2.2. Application Streams

Certain user space components distributed in the AppStream repository are Application Streams. Application Streams are delivered on a cadence that is suitable for each package, which makes the distribution diversified. Application Streams offer multiple versions of a single package for installation within RHEL 9, which is an improvement over previous methods of making multiple versions of packages available. RHEL 9 also consolidates previous distribution channels to a single place.

Depending on the needs of the individual Application Stream, packaging for these components is implemented in a number of forms:

- RPMs

- Modules

- Software Collections.

For detailed information on the length of Application Streams support, see the Red Hat Enterprise Linux Application Streams Life Cycle. For information about the other components or packages in the AppStream repository, see the Scope of Coverage Details document.

CHAPTER 2. REPOSITORIES

2.1. THE BASEOS REPOSITORY

Content in the BaseOS repository is intended to provide a core set of the underlying OS functionality that provides the foundation for all installations. This content is available in the RPM format and is subject to support terms similar to those in previous releases of Red Hat Enterprise Linux. For more information, see the Scope of Coverage Details document.

The following table lists all the packages in the BaseOS repository along with their license and application compatibility level.
